

Haiti Earthquake Disaster

A 7.0 magnitude quake rocked Haiti on Tuesday causing widespread devastation to the capital Port-au-Prince. An eyewitness at the scene reported that the city was "gray with dust."

The earthquake highlights the needs in a country already ravaged by poverty, natural disaster and instability.

Haiti is by far the poorest nation in the Western Hemisphere, with most of the country's population living on less than $2 a day. When natural disaster strikes, the suffering is almost unimaginable. The earthquake has left people without food, shelter or water.

World Relief will respond immediately with emergency kits – and we need your help now.

Emergency kits will include ready-to-eat food, water and blankets.

The next few days will be critical, so please respond with any amount you are able to give.

For more than 15 years, World Relief has worked alongside hundreds of local churches, delivering vital aid to combat HIV/AIDS, empower mothers to raise healthy children and meet economic needs. In the days ahead, Haiti's churches will be at the center of relief and recovery efforts.

We need your help!
