

STATE IDENTIFICATION CARD

It is not necessary for newcomers to get a State ID upon arrival, as their Employment Authorization Card and I-94 should be sufficient forms of ID. However, obtaining a State ID can help the employment process and some employer might request for it.

To apply for an ID card you need:

- Completed Texas ID Application
- Money for the application fee
- Proof of Identity: birth certificate, passport, consular ID card, etc.
- Proof of Texas Residency: utility bill, bank statement, rental/lease agreement, etc
- Social Security card
- May need Employment Authorization Card (EAD) or other documents from USCIS
- Successful completion of a driving test and/or vision screening (depending on type of license requested)

Once this is gathered, you'll need:

- Complete the identification card application before arriving at a local office (This form is also available at all driver license offices).
- Make an appointment at a driver license office.
 - At the appointment bring all the documents
- Provide a signature for the Driver's License or ID.
- Provide your thumbprints.
- Have a picture taken at the office.
- Pay the application fee.

Organ Donor

The newcomer might be asked whether or not they would like to be an organ donor. You should communicate this with the newcomer beforehand, so that they fully understand the question. If there is any hesitation that the newcomer does not fully understand, the default answer should be "no."

REMEMBER TO

- Log your volunteer hours
- Log case notes if required of GNT
